BUDGET BUNGLE

HARLOW Council's decision to slash funding for the town's Welfare Rights and Advice service descended into farce this week after it was overturned by a High Court judge.

Mr Justice Davis ruled the authority had not given "due regard" to its statutory obligation to promote equality and eliminate discrimination against the most vulnerable members of society.

He ordered the council to reconsider the £400,000 cutback. It will also have to pay two-thirds of the legal costs incurred by the claimants – former HWRA clients Geraldine Meaney, Greig Sanders and Patricia Glyn – and was refused the right to appeal against the decision.

It is the first time a major decision taken by Harlow Council has been successfully challenged in the High Court. However, the future of the service still hangs in the balance and is likely to be determined by the outcome of the next policy and resources committee

Police detain six lorry stowaways

A GROUP of suspected illegal immigrants were found in the back of a lorry at a Harlow truck depot.

The six Vietnamese nationals were detained by police at Truck Lite, in Barrows Road, on Tuesday afternoon after a driver on the M25 reported seeing them in the back of a Dutch heavy goods vehicle.

Officers followed the lorry off the motorway and escorted it to the nearest depot to carry out a search of the vehicle.

They found the men and women sitting in the container and detained them before calling ambulance crews to check them over. The group all declined medical treatment.

The six suspects and a 55-year-old Dutch driver, who was arrested on suspicion of facilitating illegal entry of people into the UK, have now been handed to the UK Border Agency which will investigate the case.

WWII plane crashes at village's airfield

FIREFIGHTERS and paramedics were scrambled to North Weald Airfield yesterday (Wednesday) morning after a World War II fighter plane crash-landed.

The Hawker Hurricane appeared to stall as it touched down, sending the plane's nose crashing into the ground and flipping its tail-section up into the air. The pilot emerged from the wreckage unscathed.

Dog owner in a spin after Dizzy impresses the judges at Crufts

A DOG owner was all smiles when her two-year-old Hungarian Vizsla walked away with an award at Crufts.

It is only the second year that Louise Bell (38), of Old Road, Old Harlow, has entered her dog Dizzy (registered name Roughshoot Aphrodisiac) into the world-famous competition.

But Dizzy won the Bitch Challenge Certificate in the breed category of the gundog group.

Teacher Louise, a member of the Roding Ringcraft Dog Club, admitted Dizzy handled the nerves better than she did on in front of thousands of people at Birmingham's National Exhibition Centre.

"I was so nervous when we were in the final in front of the judges that I nearly passed out," she said.

"In some ways it was a massive relief that we did not win the best of breed award because I don't think I could have coped with going into the big ring in front of so many people.

"This was not expected at all. It is a massive surprise because first and foremost she is a family dog.

"We have two children and she is absolutely brilliant around them. In fact the way she acts I am fairly sure she thinks she is the third child in the family."

Soldier's dad sickened by anti-war protestors

THE father of a Harlow soldier killed in Afghanistan has branded a protest by Muslim extremists who shouted abuse at soldiers serving in the same regiment as his son as sickening.

John Foster, whose 19-year-old son Robert was killed in a friendly fire attack in August 2007, said he was angry anti-war protestors were allowed to disrupt the homecoming parade in Luton on Tuesday.

"If I was standing there with an anti-Muslim placard I would have been arrested," Mr Foster, of Great Plumtree, told the Star. "But they were allowed to get away with it. It's sickening.

"I don't think the police should have allowed the protestors to be there. I feel really annoyed. This was about our boys being honoured for fighting for Queen and country. Soldiers just go where they are told and follow orders.

"If I would have been there I think I would have got myself arrested to be honest. I am aware it was only a very small minority protesting as our service personnel are well supported by the vast majority of Muslims. We know this from support we have received."

The demonstration took place as 200 soldiers from the 2nd Battalion The Royal Anglian Regiment marched through the Bedfordshire town. Some of the protestors held up banners with slogans describing the troops as "war criminals", "cowards" and "butchers of Basra".

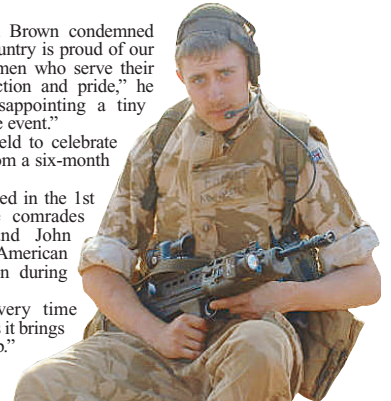

Two people were arrested for public order offences but it is understood they were not part of the group who were demonstrating.

Prime Minister Gordon Brown condemned the protest. "The whole country is proud of our brave servicemen and women who serve their country with great distinction and pride," he said. "It is, therefore disappointing a tiny minority tried to disrupt the event."

Tuesday's parade was held to celebrate soldiers returning home from a six-month tour of Iraq.

Private Foster, who served in the 1st Battalion, died alongside comrades Aaron McClure (19) and John Thrumble (21) when an American F15 bombed their position during close quarter fighting.

Mr Foster added: "Every time something like this happens it brings back what happened to Rob."

Police called to football match as crowd trouble mars cup final VIOLENT scenes erupted at a football match after fans from rival sides clashed in the spectator stands at Harlow FC's Barrows Farm stadium on Sunday.

Children and pensioners were caught up in the melee as about 50 people out of a crowd of up to 200 fans began hurling insults.

The troublemakers from both sides then clambered over chairs and started pushing and shoving each other.

Some fans were said to have been physically assaulted during the disturbance which happened immediately after the final whistle was blown at the Harlow and District League Division 5 cup final.

The game between Brookside Athletic Reserves and FC Clark Reserves ended in a 3-0 victory for Brookside.

Stewards acted immediately to break up the two groups of supporters and then set about ejecting suspected troublemakers.

Police were called to the ground shortly before 5pm to assist with crowd control but despite officers admitting offences had been committed they were unable to make arrests as no victims came forward to report they had been assaulted.

The management of Harlow Town FC, which allowed the match to be played at the ground, are now warning fans will be banned from the Elizabeth Way stadium for life if they are caught starting trouble in the future.

Although there were no reports of people sustaining injuries during the disturbance, witness Billy Shaw said the violence upset genuine supporters who had gone to enjoy the game.

"It wasn't very nice to see because there were women, children and elderly supporters who were caught up in the disturbance," he told the Star.

"There were a lot of people near the pitch and children and OAPs were led away from the trouble by people trying to help. It was very disappointing to see."

The club, which has signed up to the Football Association's Respect campaign designed to combat abuse directed at referees and rival supporters, is now urging other clubs in the town to adhere to the code.

Harlow Town FC chairman Simon Morgan said: "It's imperative that everyone who comes to football in our town respects those around them.

"Whether they're supporters who swear too much or constantly abuse the referee, or visiting players who take the changing rooms and facilities for granted, it all needs to stop.

"This only applies to a small minority, but I will not have them spoiling it for everyone else. Anyone who is caught will be banned from our stadium for life."

Three bailed as search for murder weapon continues

POLICE are still searching for a knife used to kill a 62-year-old disabled woman outside her home almost two weeks ago.

Jennifer Macaree, also known as Jennifer North, was stabbed inside her black Vauxhall Corsa outside her flat in Hadley Grange, Harlow, on February 28. She was found shortly after 3am and taken to Princess Alexandra Hospital where she died a short time later.

Three men – a 68-year-old, a 25-year-old and a 22-year-old – arrested in connection with the incident have now all been released on police bail pending further inquiries.

Police are still looking for a large single bladed knife they believe to have been used in the killing.

Everest test for cricketer James

By SOPHIE WARNER
star@hertssexnews.co.uk

KEEN cricketer James Butler will have a mountain to climb before he takes part in a charity attempt to set a world record for the highest ever competitive sporting event – by playing in a 20-over game on Everest.

The match, complete with umpires, scorers and spectators, will be taking place at Gorak Shep, 5,000 metres up the 29,029ft-high Himalayan peak.

James (32), first team captain for Harlow Cricket Club, said: "Somebody I play cricket with is taking part and told me someone had dropped out so I thought I would give it a go.

"I had to go to three interviews to see what I would get out of it and how relevant it was to me. I really couldn't give up the opportunity."

The two teams of 15 men will trek for eight days to reach their destination. The match, which takes place next month, will be streamed live to Lord's where it will be watched by spectators.

"I cannot wait to do it," said James, who lives in Epping. "I think it will be fantastic. It hasn't really seemed real until this last month that I was actually doing it."

The charity event has been funded from the participants' own pockets so that the money raised – hoped to be over £250,000 – will all go directly to two charities – The Lord's Taverners, which helps young people to enjoy cricket and other sports, and The Himalayan Trust which funds projects in Nepal.

James, who works in recruitment, said: "You can't really prepare for the attitude sickness but they say that you have to take your time trekking up the mountain otherwise you will suffer."

"This is why it is taking us eight days to get there. You can't rush it." He added: "It seems that every weekend my time has been taken up by some sort of training; my wife has been very understanding!"

The programme included a fun run with men in their boxer shorts and an auction sponsored by local firms. High Court overturns welfare service cash cut meeting, rescheduled to take place on Wednesday evening.

Welcoming the court's ruling, HWRA head Sue Jones told the Star she was eager to meet with councillors as soon as possible to discuss the service's funding arrangements which are due to expire at the end of this month.

"I hope the council will work closely with us to try to achieve a successful conclusion as a result of the High Court's decision," she said. "It will mean an entirely fresh process with the slate wiped entirely clean. We can only hope they approach it with an open mind."

But this week it became clear that red-faced council chiefs have a different interpretation of the judge's ruling which crucially quashed the decision made by the policy and resources committee on December 18 to invite outside bids for the service at one of four budgetary bands.

A council spokesman insisted the authority had no intention of halting the tendering process and starting budgetary discussions from scratch. "The ruling means that the council must go back and consider the level of funding it set, not that it must stop the process," he said.

"The judge said that the council could have spent more time considering the funding but he has not stated that this must change. If, after further debate at the policy and resources committee, it still considers it to be appropriate, the council will be allowed to proceed."

The Public Law Project, a legal charity which represented the three claimants in court, said the council's statement was inaccurate and seriously misleading.

Spokesman Ravi Low-Beer, who was in court throughout the hearing, told the Star: "The court made it clear that it is not simply further debate that is required for a lawful decision to be made, nor did the judge say that the council is entitled to proceed with the tendering process."

"On the contrary, there is at present no tendering process as the decision to have a competitive tender has been quashed by the court."

Parties react to judge's verdict

BILL RAMMELL

ROBERT HALFON

By CHRIS MOSS
mossc@hertsexsexnews.co.uk

AS the dust begins to settle following the High Court ruling over Harlow Council's decision to slash funding to the Welfare Rights and Advice service, local politicians have been passing their own verdicts.

Harlow MP Bill Rammell described it as a clear indictment of the council's unwillingness to consult on the funding cutback, while Labour group leader Mark Wilkinson branded the Conservatives "unfit to run this town".

Liberal Democrat leader Chris Millington said the High Court ruling was a stunning victory for the claimants and expressed his hope the issue could now be resolved amicably.

The Star approached the council for more details of its plans but a spokesman said the administration would be standing by its original statement and declined to comment further.

Conservative prospective Parliamentary candidate Robert Halfon criticised the previous Labour/Liberal Democrat administration for "leaving the council coffers empty", claiming this forced the proposed cutback.

COUNCILLOR MARK WILKINSON
(Labour group leader)

"This ruling demonstrates the disregard Harlow's ruling Conservatives on the council have shown to consulting with local people over this whole debacle. The cuts they proposed in the first place were unacceptable, and I am delighted that the High Court has quashed the decision and asked them to think again."

"The Labour group repeatedly warned the Tory administration throughout that they were not paying attention to due process and a judicial review would be imminent, a bill which would run into thousands for Harlow taxpayers. They disregarded our warnings."

COUNCILLOR CHRIS MILLINGTON
(Liberal Democrat group leader)

"I congratulate the claimants on their stunning High Court victory. I hope the Conservative administration will take this opportunity to sit down with Harlow Welfare Rights and Advice and give proper consideration to the potentially devastating impact of drastically cutting this vital service's budget."

"We're talking about real people's lives and hardships and it is clear from the ruling that the Tories did not give due regard to the full implications of the cuts on the town's most vulnerable and needy."

BILL RAMMELL
(MP for Harlow)

"I made clear at the time this decision was flawed and needed rethinking. When the country is going through the biggest international economic downturn in memory is exactly when the council should not be cutting welfare rights and advice services."

"I am speaking to the council's leadership and urging them to think again, talk to the advice centre and come up with a proposal that commands the real support of local residents and service users."

ROBERT HALFON

"Had the previous Labour and Liberal Democrat administration not left the council coffers empty, had the Government given Harlow a proper grant and had the Government not taken £13m from Harlow housing rents every year, this difficult decision would never have even needed to be considered in the first place."

"I am sure the council will now give further consultation to disabled and minority groups as required. I will continue to urge my colleagues on the council to ensure that Harlow has good welfare advice provision."

Think again on parking charges

SIR, Whilst attending a friend's celebration 17 years ago, my dear husband died before we could have the last waltz together.

Without wishing to sound dramatic, our future together was gone and I was on my own. As you can imagine, there are not many places where a person on their own, either male or female, can go when they need it most.

I was fortunate to find the Tye Green Bowling Club and was welcomed by friendly people. It has been a lifeline to me; I am part of a team with people to talk and laugh with. All ages attend the club, many in the same position as me. It is now Harlow Council's intention to put up parking meters in the car park. I would beg them to reconsider their decision as it would make my attendance there too expensive. I am not alone, as it would be the same for all the members. Their world can be a very lonely place and I would not like any member of the council to find themselves in my position before joining the bowling club.

I am just one voice; however, I feel there are many who feel the same as me. I hope that by printing this letter it will touch the hearts of councillors. Life is not always about how we can make money, but how we can make a difference to people's lives.

Name and address supplied - Editor

Who now will help the needy?

SIR, I worked for Harlow Council's homelessness section during the last recession in the early 1990s when we dealt with a large number of families who faced repossession due to mortgage arrears.

The families we assisted went through devastating times as their debts spiralled out of control and they felt helpless to do anything to stop it.

At least then we had Harlow Welfare Rights and Advice, who gave independent, expert advice. In very many cases advisers accompanied home owners to court and managed to strike a deal to avoid repossession altogether. Who is going to provide such help now?

I wish I could say that it's unbelievable that the Tories are cutting back on this vital service at a time when it is most needed, but I can't. Sadly, it's just typical of what they do when they are in power.

SIR, Imagine my shock and disgust at learning on my return from holiday that Harlow Council, in its wisdom, is to

Cuts are a taste of things to come

SIR, I am now in my 88th year and for many years of my adult life I was actively involved in politics at various levels, during which time I thought I had seen it all.

That was, however, until I attended the recent budget-fixing meeting of Harlow Council and witnessed not only one of the most savage assaults upon the cultural and welfare services I have ever encountered, but also a presentation of those utterly insensitive measures that was so pathetic as to be embarrassing.

Possibly and just to be charitable, although God knows why one should be when our Conservative councillors quite patently are not, articulation and rationality are elusive assets whilst attempting to defend the indefensible.

The cuts into, and decimation of, social and welfare services which will affect by far the very people who need them most have been well reported and there is no need to repeat them here, but there are other observations to be made which, in these worrying circumstances, I think are pertinent because they relate to, and may well signpost, the future.

We can see with this Tory budget that rumours of the demise of Thatcherism are greatly exaggerated and that hard-nosed political philosophy is obviously alive and kicking in Harlow - and lying in wait at Westminster also?

In a recent interview David Cameron gave strong hints of public spending cuts should the Tories come to power next year. Are these actions by the Harlow Tories a trailer for things to come? And on whose heads, nationally, would the big axe fall?

I would like to point out that in the 1980s, during the Thatcher regime, Harlow's Labour-controlled council was heavily and vindictively rate-capped. Yet all of the services now under such serious threat were kept going and maintained because the then-Labour councillors believed, as I most certainly do, that at whatever cost, the people in society who are most vulnerable and the most in need must be prioritised and cared for. To me, that is a fundamental principle.

How I wish I still had the physical and mental energy to be in the thick of this fight, but at least the spirit is still strong.

As a veteran of the Labour Party I do not always see eye-to-eye with some aspects of New Labour policy but I know there still are vital differences between Tories and the Labour Party which are starkly illustrated by the current display of undisguised Toryism on Harlow Council.

uphold its earlier decision to cut funding to the advice centre in spite of the 7,351 people who had signed the petition to keep it open.

Many of the people who signed the petition took the trouble to stop in the snow, rain and cold, and deserve a pat on the back for doing so.

The centre was purpose-built in 1978 and has since helped thousands of people with a variety of problems. Staff were always willing to go that extra mile to resolve problems.

There are at present 671 open cases on file and I am myself being helped with an horrendous housing problem by a member of staff. When you think of the need of the people of Harlow for the advice centre it is a very arrogant decision indeed to even contemplate closing the service.

There is a lot of anger being expressed by people living in Harlow regarding the budget cuts and this will, I am sure, be remembered come election time.

Labour to blame for mess we're in

SIR, I am fed up with the Labour voters whingeing about the Conservative council we have in Harlow. Give them a chance, they have only been there for eight months.

The last lot sent my council tax up by £792.05 from 2002 until 2009 and what did I get for it? A council that has left a great debt and a town that is dirty.

As for the new wheelie bins, I for one am looking forward to them as I am fed up with the silly bags the last council gave us and the boxes that blow down the road leaving recycled items all over the streets.

A lot of other decisions are taken by Essex County Council and the Government that has put the country in the state we are in today. Roll on the General Election, let's get a government that knows what it is doing. After all, they could not do any worse than the lot we have now.

Town is in a poor state

SIR, Further to the salary increases for senior management staff at Harlow Council, the town seems to be in a very poor state compared to when I moved into the area in January 2007.

Within two years of being here there are no end of potholes in the roads, lighting is constantly out along the main roads, especially Southern Way, the traffic has increased and to get a simple zebra crossing outside my children's primary school in the Katherine's area is too much to ask for.

A new position has been created to assist the chief executive. Is the chief executive not able to do the work himself? Was it only last week I read that the council only has £89,000 left? And it is now cutting the funds for our local advice centre.

I am sick and tired of listening to reports saying that people are being made redundant and losing their homes when there are people in management positions who are raking it in.

Green...but not in a good sense

SIR, I had the dubious privilege of speaking as a member of the public at Harlow Council's planning committee of meeting last week.

The subject was Tesco's proposed erection of a pair of wind turbines in the car park at its Church Langley store. I raised an objection about likely noise levels affecting the various activities that occur at that site, particularly at the health centre and church.

The meeting was certainly an eye-opener for me. As your report (Star, March 5) noted, permission was granted for the project but I think it is fair to say that this was on the basis of a lamentable ignorance of the technical issues involved. The council had obtained no useful information at all - not from Tesco, their contractors nor from their own research - about noise levels which would be caused by the installation of this equipment.

They also chose to ignore the quantitative information I provided to them. Instead they adopted the attitude that 'it's green, so approve it'. A sensible suggestion from one committee member to defer consideration until they actually had some facts was overridden in the general haste for approval.

It remains a fact that, according to the installer's own figures, such a turbine needs to be 50 metres away to ensure noise levels are below the acceptable maximum. By comparison, even the meeting's agenda admitted the health centre is a mere 20 metres from the nearer mast and 28 metres from the community hall/chapel.

Prior to the meeting I had exchanged emails with a member of the planning department, in the course of which he openly admitted he did not fully understand the terminology he was using in the draft approval he had written.

I am afraid this lack of comprehension seemed to be prevalent also during the meeting. In being keen to be seen to be green, our planners are indeed showing their greenness - but certainly not in the sense they would wish.

Charging for parking permits

SIR, I would like to inform your readers about the inconsistencies in Harlow Council's actions over the concessionary visitors' parking permits currently available to residents over the age of 60.

On January 20 the environment and community committee discussed a change/withdrawal of the concessionary visitors' permits to households with an over 60-year-old and instead charge £10.

On February 3 the council sent out a letter about the proposed changes. On February 7 I wrote to the council to Bill Rammell and to my three local councillors. I have only had a reply from one councillor who expressed ignorance of these events.

The change appears a foregone conclusion as it is already assumed in the new budget. It will raise little revenue but adversely affect the quality of life of all those who welcome or depend on the visits and assistance of family and friends.

How can Harlow Council profess democracy when such matters as these indicate instead a pre-determined oligarchical rule?

Social housing is the solution

SIR, It seems that the Gateway project on the old Sportcentre site has stalled but although no-one can now afford to buy new properties, that does not mean to say that there is no need for housing in Harlow. There are at least 3,000 families on the waiting list.

Wouldn't it make sense for the developers to convert their plans for the site to accommodate social housing in partnership with Harlow Council? After all, this is what the Government has been urging as a way of getting the economy restarted.

Such a scheme would provide work for builders laid off and a source of rental income for the council.

Now that the free financial market has so spectacularly failed, the time has come for Keynesian pump-priming. Such schemes would benefit everyone.

Breakdown in communication

SIR, I read the letter from R.Court and the problems her daughter encountered on an Arriva bus (Letters, February 26) because she looks older than her age.

I have had the same problem with a driver who refused to let my son travel unless he bought an adult weekly ticket and not the child weekly ticket he had requested.

He had the same problem a few weeks ago when the driver said that his Bite card was not proof of age, even though it had his photograph and the date he would be 16 (July 2011) on it. He will not be 14 until July this year.

The driver said that he would need a Faresaver card. I went to the Arriva office at the bus station to get one to save any further hassle and was informed that he couldn't have it until he was 14 and I shouldn't have to pay £10 for something that was not required.

I then telephoned the complaints department and explained the problem and was told to let the driver issue the fine, send it in with a copy of the Bite card and birth certificate and they would sort it.

I am not blaming the driver but it seems that lack of communication between the bus company and the drivers is to blame. The drivers are employed to drive the bus, not to check/argue people's age, especially when they produce proof of age.

It surely is not the child's fault that they are not small enough or young-looking to qualify for the child's fare. But when they are in school uniform and carrying their ID card they should get child fare.

Surely the way around this would be to have child fare applicable to schoolchildren in school uniform and the Faresaver card for college/sixth form or third level pupils who do not wear uniform.

It really is a Catch 22 situation. My son looks older than his age but is not old enough to get a Faresaver card.

School's team of 'angels' are Race ready

A 150-STRONG team of schoolgirls and staff, calling themselves the Leventhorpe Angels, are preparing to take part in the Cancer Research UK's Race for Life in Harlow.

The team from Leventhorpe School in Sawbridgeworth decided to sign up for the 5km event, which is being supported by the Star, in memory of their sixth form head John Green who died from bowel and pancreatic cancer three years ago at the age of 56. The mother of two of the team – Amy and Nikki Mitham – also died of cancer in 2007.

On a more positive note, two members of staff – English teacher Claire Truman and teaching assistant Heather Carr – have successfully fought the disease and will be running in the event at Harlow Town Park on Sunday, May 10.

Leventhorpe Angels' organiser Emma Abegglen said: "We're really looking forward to taking part in the Race for Life. So many people are touched by cancer and we want to do something positive to help them by supporting Cancer Research UK's life-saving work."

The team have set up a Facebook group and a sponsorship page at www.raceforlifesponsorship.org/leventhorpeangels.

More than 2,100 took part in Harlow last year, raising £159,850 for the charity. Organisers have set a target of 2,500 participants for this year's race and hope to raise £193,000.

Lucy Hynes, event manager for Race for Life in Essex, said: "We hope that everyone will accept our invitation to do something amazing by taking part. Many simply walk round, chatting having fun but they all share the wonderful spirit of sisterhood and pride on the day."

Funding threat to Leisurezone science centre

A SCIENCE centre due to built at Harlow's new state-of-the-art leisure centre may not go ahead because funding for the project has been pulled.

Harlow charity Science Alive was given the thumbs-up to create a science and technology centre as part of the Leisurezone project currently under construction in Second Avenue.

It would be one of only a few of its kind in the region and was hoped to pull in crowds of more than 50,000 people per year.

But Science Alive has now found out it will have to reapply for money to fund the scheme, claiming Essex County Council has changed its funding priorities for the region and as a result the centre no longer meets the criteria.

The news has come as a blow to the charity which is now pinning its hopes on finding another source of funding.

Science Alive chief executive Jayne Foster said: "We know sometimes criteria change but this has come as a major blow to us, especially as we have exceeded the previous funding targets."

"We know from our research that Harlow wants our centre for a variety of reasons – educational, economic and cultural.

"It's a difficult situation but we refuse to be

By LOUISE SASSOON, News Editor
sassoonl@hertsessexnews.co.uk

beaten and are looking at other ways of achieving the same end.

"Other funding routes are obvious options that we are investigating but we might find a mixture of funding, sponsorship and in-kind support provides the answer."

She added: "We are keen to hear from individuals and organisations who would like to work with us."

The charity, which has already established a successful programme of hands-on activities for young people, had planned to broaden its scope to deliver an exhibit of 40-50 scientific displays as well as a theatre giving public shows within the sports centre.

The funding cut will not affect the rest of the Leisurezone development, which is due to be completed in September.

Essex County Council is responsible for the East of England Development Agency's Economic Participation Fund programme from which the money would have come.

A County Hall spokesman said: "Essex County Council, as the programme's accountable body, asked to be convinced that the project would be sustainable in future and avoid reliance on the public purse. This has not been demonstrated."

Death of much-loved youth worker

A COMMUNITY stalwart who helped thousands of young people has died at the age of 81.

Bette Lander, who was a youth worker at Brays Grove youth centre, died at her home in Spencers Croft, Harlow, last week.

She moved to the town with her husband and family more than 50 years ago and was also involved in numerous community projects including the Spencers Croft Neighbours' Group and the Harlow Community Chest charity.

In recent years she cared for her husband Ken, who died last year.

Former West Essex community education officer Derek Fenny, who worked with Mrs Lander for many years, said: "She was like a second mother to literally thousands of young people. She steered them in the right direction for a successful future and they returned the respect and affection she always showed them.

"She was a generous, kind and cheerful woman on whom many trainee youth workers modelled themselves."

Mrs Lander leaves two children, five grandchildren and seven great-grandchildren. Her funeral takes place at Parndon Wood tomorrow (March 13) at 3pm. Mourners are requested to wear bright colours.

Donations in lieu of floral tributes should be sent to MacMillan Nurses.

Reunion call to the missing Zoods

FORMER students and staff of Latton Bush School are being invited to a reunion to mark its 50th birthday.

And to add to the nostalgic atmosphere in the former school hall in the summer, the evening entertainment could be partially provided by the school's first rock band The Zoods – if they can be found.

Formed in the early '60s, the band comprised Terry Eaton, Trevor Sharpe, Mick Phillip, David 'Dink' Phillips and Terry Smith, who used to rehearse in the school hall.

They have not played together since disbanding in 1966 and reunion organisers hope the five will get in touch to take up the offer of reforming for one last encore.

If you are a Zood and want to speak to organisers, call (01279) 304597. Tickets for the event on September 15 are £5 from the same number.

Close look at life and death

HEALTH is in the news of late with various Government initiatives urging people to lead more active lives in an bid to stop the country's growing obesity epidemic.

The issue was just as topical in Harlow 40 years ago and prompted the council's top health officer to compile a 10-year report entitled The Health of Harlow.

Regular correspondent Ron Bill gave Nostalgia sight of the document spanning 1956-65, which listed the town's various ailments, incidents, statistics and health patterns as well as information on services affecting health such as sewerage, housing, water supply and pollution.

In the introduction addressed to the chairman and members of Harlow Urban District Council, author Dr Isodore Ash said the state of Harlow's health had steadily improved during the period.

By LOUISE SASSOON

However, the report details some grisly statistics. In 1957, the town saw 24 people paralysed because of polio (a further 10 were infected but made full recoveries); in 1963 there was a huge outbreak of typhoid fever due to corned beef, which had not been recognised as a transmitter of the disease; and 1965 saw 10 cases of chemical food poisoning as part of a large outbreak in two neighbouring authorities, which became known as The Epping Jaundice.

Tuberculosis was also rife. Dr V.U. Lutwyche, the senior chest physician in Harlow, submitted his own findings to the report.

"The incidence of tuberculosis in Harlow continues to cause concern," he wrote. "The yearly increase in the population results in an increasing number of newly diagnosed patients each year."

"The chief danger to the community is from those with a long-standing positive sputum." The report also details the causes of death in the town in 1965. Of 264 people, two people died of respiratory tuberculosis, 81 from heart and circulatory disease and five in vehicle accidents.

Nowadays, the local primary care trust keeps tabs on the health of residents, devising a similar annual report on the state of the town's health.

ANOTHER YOB ATTACK

Police are investigating two attacks on the homes of Asian families. On Sunday, bricks daubed with swastikas were thrown through the window of a home in Five Acres. The attack followed paving slabs daubed with the symbol being thrown through the windows of a house in Berecroft last week.

COMPANY DOUBLES ITS WORKFORCE

Extra staff may soon be taken on by a Harlow company which has doubled its workforce in eight years. Beard & Fitch and Acral Gears, which both deal with industrial gears and gearboxes, have merged and hope to expand the workforce for both trading names in the future.

HIGH STANDARD AT WINE SHOW

Nearly 200 bottles of wine and beer were entered in the annual show of Harlow Technical Wine Makers' Guild. All 190 bottles were said to be of good quality when they were tasted at the event in St Stephen's Church Hall, Tawneys Road.

WE'LL STILL FIGHT BENEFIT CUTS

Angry campaigners are still fighting Housing Benefits cuts, despite the fact they will become law in a fortnight's time. A coach-load of Harlow protestors went to meet Jerry Hayes MP in Parliament to discuss the cuts which will take £190m out of Housing Benefits, creating an average weekly loss of £2 for Harlow people.

Kye saddles up for Red Nose bike ride

CARING Kye Partridge showed he nose best when it comes to raising money for Comic Relief by completing a five-mile sponsored bike ride with his grandad.

Five-year-old Kye, of Northbrooks, Harlow, was so upset when he learned about the plight of impoverished children in Third World countries that he insisted on doing something for the annual charity drive.

After convincing mum Emma to buy special charity bottles of Evian water while out shopping, cycling-mad Kye then asked his grandad, Ian Partridge, to accompany him on a bike ride.

Wearing their red noses, the intrepid pair set off on a tour of Harlow's cycle tracks before stopping off at sponsors' homes to collect an impressive £150 for the charity – with more cash yet to be added to the grand total.

Mum Emma told the Star: "I'm so proud of him. It really choked me up when he turned around to me and said he wanted to do something to help the poor and needy.

"He'd seen the adverts for Comic Relief on TV and asked me why the children looked so sad. When I explained to him they were poorly because they didn't have clean water and that some of them didn't have mummies and daddies, he decided he would try and raise some money by himself.

"He's such a special and caring little boy and he's done a wonderful thing for charity. He's an inspiration to us all."

Sporting stars at dog track to raise funds for hospice

STARS from the world of sport will be making tracks to Harlow's greyhound stadium to put their abilities to the test in aid of charity.

Snooker world champion Ronnie O'Sullivan, Glamorgan cricketer Mark Wallace, former footballer Tony Cascarino and darts ace Colin Lloyd will be taking part in tournaments to raise funds for St Clare Hospice.

As well as the celebrities, members of the public and staff from the hospice and The Gatekeeper restaurant, which has organised the event, will be taking part.

A raffle with prizes donated by local businesses and an auction with celebrity lots will also be held.

Gatekeeper manager Sharon Jenkins said: "St Clare's Hospice is a charity close to all our hearts and we are keen to get as many people along as possible.

"The stadium has kindly donated their venue for free so 100 per cent of the funds will go to those who need support. We are a friendly team and look forward to seeing lots of new faces all gathered to support such a worthy cause."

The evening will be held at the stadium in Roydon Road next Wednesday from 7.30pm. Tickets which include a buffet dinner cost £3 and are available on the door.

'Superskinny' Martin piles on the pounds for TV diet-swap

AN ex-jockey who was bordering on anorexia and living on a diet of chocolate and cigarettes washed down with energy drinks has turned his life around – by swapping diets with an obese man.

Martin Cotton (33), weighed just nine stone after years of a nutrient-deficient daily intake which he began eating after taking up an apprenticeship at the age of 15.

His life spiralled out of control when he turned to drink and, coupled with the need to keep his weight down, he soon ended up eating next to nothing.

But the Harlow-based promotions manager is now happy and healthy after completing a gruelling five-day stint in a clinic while being filmed for the Channel 4 show Supersize v Superskinny.

During the show, which was screened last week, Mr Cotton is seen eating huge amounts of Chinese food in one sitting, "buckets" of cereal and various snacks which would normally suffice as a main meal. At the same time his 'food swap' partner lived on Mr Cotton's meagre pickings.

"It was really hard and I was sick on the second day," said Mr Cotton. "He would eat Chinese meals which would feed four people and sandwiches and snacks throughout the day so that's what I had to eat. I put on half a stone."

Mr Cotton, who works at new club Liberty's in Terminus Street, followed a 12-week regime specially designed by nutritional experts after the show, which was filmed back in September.

He has now put on over a stone and has never been healthier.

"I have managed to cut back on my smoking and gain more food awareness of what I am supposed to be eating," he added.

"I urge anyone who has similar problems to seek professional help, not necessarily on a TV show but just to find some help."

Schools to share in Whitehall windfall

SCHOOLS in Harlow will benefit from a Government cash injection a year earlier than expected because of the recession.

Whitehall chiefs have agreed to make more than £10m available to Essex as part of a deal to support local communities.

The money will be spent on school buildings and repairs, with every school in the county expected to benefit.

The funding will go directly to head-teachers and schools can choose how to spend the money as they see fit.

WIN Tickets to the Ideal Home Show

THIS year's Ideal Home Show, now in its 101st year, reflects a trend with its theme of 'Don't Move - Improve'.

The show will provide visitors with ideas for cost-effective, eco-friendly home improvement solutions to help make the most of their home, instead of having to move.

And you can get the inside view free, as the Star has teamed up with Anglian Home Improvements to offer readers the chance to win one of 20 pairs of tickets to the show, which takes place from March 20 to April 13 at Earls Court in west London.

One of the show's key features this year is a new show village. Aimed at helping you to see the potential of your home, it will illustrate how you can fall in love with your home again by remodelling and transforming an uninspiring 1960s house into two stunning new designs - a spectacular but traditional-looking home and a contemporary residence.

Suspended jail term for driver in attack case

A FORMER soldier who acted as a getaway driver following a hammer attack in Harlow has avoided prison with a suspended sentence.

Michael Cubberley (32), from Basildon, was given an eight-month jail sentence, suspended for one year at Chelmsford Crown Court on Thursday.

He admitted acts tending and intending to pervert the course of justice after the attack on Daniel Lorimer in Altham Grove, Harlow, on December 22, 2007. Mr Lorimer was punched, kicked and struck with the hammer after arriving at his ex-girlfriend's to collect his two daughters.

Peter Osokpo (28), from East London, and Kevin Ryan (24), from Rochford, were previously jailed for five years each after they admitted assault with intent.

Stephanie Farmond, prosecuting, previously told the court Cubberley had driven the attackers from the scene after attempting to intervene.

Emphasising Cubberley had nothing to do with setting up the attack, Judge Anthony Goldstaub QC told him: "You became involved as a peacemaker appalled at what you saw and made a mistake ... you did it on the spur of the moment, perhaps frightened of these men who were armed with a hammer and prepared to kick, causing life threatening injuries. It's fortunate Mr Lorimer was not killed."

Cubberley was also ordered to do 100 hours of unpaid work.

Catering firm moves to 'old oil' biodiesel

Sculptures capture essence of the town

A HOUSING estate has been given a touch of culture with two sculptures by budding artists.

Last year, Harlow College students were challenged to design a piece of contemporary work for Barratt's Fifth Avenue development, staying within a budget of £5,000 and reflecting Harlow's 60 year history and current regeneration.

The winning sculptures by art and design students Madeline Allen (17) and Michael Austin (21) were unveiled in a ceremony with Harlow MP Bill Rammell last week.

Madeline designed a steel butterfly after being inspired by the town's pubs which are all named after different species of the insect, while Michael designed an organic form in bronze which has fluted shapes to represent the town's growth.

A CATERING firm is hoping to boost its green credentials by running its trucks on recycled cooking oil.

3663 First For Foodservice, in Harlow's Greenways Business Park, is set to roll out its pilot biodiesel programme to the town after successful trials elsewhere.

The programme involves the collection of used cooking oil from suppliers and customers, which is then converted into fuel for the lorries.

Graham Rennie of 3663 said: "Trucks from Harlow as well as four other depots - Edinburgh, Abingdon, Gateshead and Salisbury - will start using the recycled biodiesel mix this month and our trucks at Basingstoke, Lee Mill, Severn Bridge and Worthing will follow suit in April.

"We are delighted to be able to extend our biodiesel programme to Essex and fuel even more of our trucks with sustainable biodiesel made from waste vegetable oil. This move will allow us to supply customers across the south of the UK with a more sustainable delivery service."

He added: "The programme has removed 3663 from the 'food versus fuel' debate because we convert waste vegetable oil from our customers and suppliers."

Smokers who quit can save a packet and live healthier lives

NHS

West Essex

Smokers who kick the habit will be taking the first step to a healthier life - and saving a packet at the same time.

Ending a 20-a-day habit could save you £40.60 a week. In six months you could save about £1,056 and the benefits will be felt not just in your pocket.

Smoking is the UK's number one cause of avoidable premature death, linked to a range of serious and often fatal conditions.

The risk of developing cervical and lung cancer, and other cancers, heart attack, stroke and chronic lung disease is reduced. The sooner you stop smoking, the sooner your risk starts reducing.

Stopping smoking at any age increases your life expectancy, provided you stop before the onset of serious disease. Even if you have developed a disease, you can benefit from stopping as your body will be under less strain.

NHS West Essex public health director Alison

Cowie said: "A smoker who has suffered a heart attack can halve the risk of a second heart attack by stopping smoking.

"Ten years after quitting smoking an ex-smoker's risk of lung cancer is reduced by 30 to 50 per cent compared with that of a continuing smoker."

I have tried to quit before...

Just because you have tried to go smoke-free before and have not succeeded does not mean you can't do it.

The truth is that most people need four of five attempts before they succeed.

Do you want to stop smoking?

Smokers are far more likely to stub it out for good if they receive professional help. NHS West Essex's stop smoking team can provide you with all the necessary support you need.

Alison Cowie said: "It's a lifestyle change for people to go through and they need our support and the support of their family.

"Smokers need every bit of help they can get. It's not an easy thing for them to do. We would encourage everyone to give up and people are four times more likely to give up with the support of professionals than if they try to give up themselves."

Tips to help you quit:

- throw away ashtrays, lighters and cigarettes
- patches and nicotine gum are a great way to stop the cravings - they are available on prescription from your doctor
- avoid anyone who is not supporting your quit attempt
- get out for a walk every time you feel tempted to smoke
- join a gym and enjoy a healthy new you
- fill the fridge with healthy, low-calorie snacks like carrot sticks and celery so if you are tempted to eat rather than smoke you will not pile on the pounds
- save the money you would have spent on cigarettes.

People visiting the stop smoking service can get vouchers for up to a month's supply of nicotine replacement products for the price of a prescription. This is far cheaper than buying the products over the counter. For people who do not pay for prescriptions the products will be free.

Sandra Owen has enjoyed a healthier life since she stopped smoking

Anyone wanting to know more about the voucher scheme and how to quit smoking can call the NHS West Essex stop smoking service on 01279 827866. Alternatively you can access stop smoking services at your local GP practice or from many local community pharmacies.

You can also get further information, advice and details of support from www.smokefree.nhs.uk

A quitter's story - "my whole new world"

Sandra Owen had tried five times before to quit. Her health and the cost of smoking were among the reasons she decided to stop.

"Above all it was the worry I was giving my family knowing one day my health would suffer and I would pay the price. It was selfish knowing I had to put the ones I loved through sheer worry every time I lit up.

"For me it was the general feeling of ill health - the smokers cough in the morning, phlegm numbness/tingling in my fingers and feet when I slept and the overwhelming feeling I was going to encounter a heart attack due to the heaviness in my chest.

"My skin looked grey and unhealthy and there was the fear the smoking lines would soon be appearing around my mouth. This scared me.

"If it wasn't for the confidence the smoking cessation and healthy living team had in me and reassured me I know I would be back smoking. Whenever I needed reassurance and encouragement there was someone there.

"I now feel absolutely fantastic. I'm so happy to be free of this thing that took over my life. My health is better and I don't have sleepless nights worrying what harm it was doing me. A whole new world has opened up and life is such a better place for myself and my family."

Walk The Walk and turn the town pink!

IT'S back and this year it promises to be even bigger and better.

The St Clare Hospice Midnight Walk, which last year raised a staggering £106,000, will be launched in Harlow today (Thursday) in a blaze of publicity.

The 10km event, again supported by the Star, takes place on Saturday, June 20. Organisers are hoping that, following the tremendous success of last year when 1,300 pink-clad participants took part, they will be able to break through the 2,000 barrier.

"We had such a fantastic response last year and a great night in June that we couldn't wait to launch this year's event," said Giles Wright, communications officer for St Clare Hospice. "We've had lots of people calling us to ask when they could sign up so I've got a feeling places are going to go quickly."

The launch takes place outside the Asda store in Harlow town centre at 11am.

Events fundraiser Tracy Meale said: "This year we are looking for 2,000 walkers to take part and encouraging everyone to wear fancy dress – something pink and funky – and have a fun night out with the girls!"

The target for this year is £120,000 which will go towards the cost of providing special care for people with life-limiting conditions.

"With one in three people diagnosed with cancer in this country and one of four dying from the disease, someone you know may have already benefited from our care or may need us in the future," said Tracy. "Walk for them, walk for us or walk for fitness and fun!"

FLASHBACK: The start of last year's Midnight Walk in Harlow

St Clare Hospice provides free-of-charge specialist palliative care for hundreds of patients, their family and friends every year. The money raised through last year's Midnight Walk has paid for over four weeks of 24-hour in-patient care for eight patients at any one time.

The hospice has to raise around £4,000 every day as less than a third of its funding comes from the NHS.

One person who has no doubt about the difference the hospice has made to her is cancer patient Lynne. "When I was admitted the pain caused by my cancer was incredibly bad," she said. "I would tell the nurses it was an eight out of 10 but within 24 hours of being here it was already down to five or six. Now it's only around a two and I'm able to go home."

"My husband has been able to have some time to rest while I've been cared for here, too. This is a beautiful and peaceful place and I am very grateful to have benefited from hospice care."

Now trader calls for hoodie ban in mall

By LOUISE SASSOON
News Editor
sassoonl@hertsessexnews.co.uk

A SHOPKEEPER has repeated his call for a ban on hooded tops in Harlow's Harvey Centre after claiming his business has been plagued by people wearing the popular item of clothing.

Chris Giles (59), who runs Silver Scents, has asked the management of the shopping centre to consider his request because he said people are wearing hoods to disguise their faces when they come into his shop to steal.

In recent weeks, items of jewellery have been taken and Mr Giles said that in the past both he and his wife have been threatened by youngsters wearing hooded tops.

He first called for the ban four years ago when he was the victim of a knife attack at the hands of a youngster outside his store, but the request was refused.

However, after reading last week's report in the Star about the shopper who was refused entry to the Asda supermarket unless he removed his hood, Mr Giles has repeated his call for a ban.

"When somebody comes in wearing a hoodie my ears prick up and I start looking around more to see what they are doing," he said. "I have to watch them like a hawk."

Remove hood, Asda tells late night shopper

"You can't see their faces properly and people use that as a way to steal left, right and centre."

"We are in the firing line. It's easy for people to say this and that but when somebody comes in wearing a hood it immediately makes me feel uneasy because of what has happened."

"I'm not saying all people who wear hoods are up to no good but I think it would deter a lot of problems if there was a ban on people having their hoods up."

Back in 2005 the Bluewater shopping complex in Kent became the first in the country to ban people from wearing hooded tops as part of a crackdown on anti-social behaviour.

However, Harvey Centre manager Bryan Young said banning the item would not be the right course of action as no other shops had reported problems.

"We will, of course, closely monitor the situation with Mr Giles in an attempt to develop a solution to his problems," he added.

Pair accused of robbery at supermarket

TWO men have appeared in court following a robbery at Sainsbury's in Harlow last month.

Demolition worker Colin Garrod (41), from Basildon, has been charged with robbery, possessing a firearm, possessing a firearm with intent and illegally transferring criminal property.

Jobless Barry Askew (51), of Mallows Green, Harlow, has been charged with robbery, possessing a firearm, possessing a firearm with intent and two counts of illegally transferring criminal property.

Both men appeared before Southend magistrates on Saturday where they were remanded in custody to appear at Southend Crown Court on May 8.

Candles cause bathroom fire

A 41-year-old woman was treated for smoke inhalation after a fire broke out in her bathroom on Monday.

The fire – extinguished by the time fire fighters arrived at 5.47am – is believed to have been triggered by candles burning in the bathroom of the ground floor flat in Mallows Green, Harlow.

The perfect place to monkey around

CHURCHGATE: Children had a swinging time playing around on new climbing equipment which has been installed in their playground.

The equipment, which was jointly funded by the Friends of Churchgate and the school's delegated budget, was formally opened by Harlow Council chairman Tony Hall in a special ribbon-cutting ceremony.

A school spokeswoman said: "The children think the new equipment, which includes a slide, fireman's pole, bridge and climbing wall, is anything from cool, fun and great to well-wicked!"

Recreating a colourful masterpiece

LATTON GREEN:

Budding painters had a brush with famous artist Renoir when they recreated one of his paintings as a living work of art.

About 200 children were armed with umbrellas to recreate The Umbrellas.

The activity ended a week of learning about the artist, during which staff spent a training day at the National Gallery to research and gather information.

Headteacher Lorna Handscomb said: "This is the kind of high-quality creative curriculum that brings positive results for our pupils and was recognised as such in our recent good Ofsted Report."

FAWBERT AND BARNARD: Children tucked into a barbeque feast at a special lunchtime during environment week.

For five days, pupils learnt about nature and the outdoors during a series of activities which included a treasure hunt around the school grounds as well as visits from a orienteering expert and representatives from the Royal Society for the Protection of Birds and Paradise Wildlife Park.

The BBQ preceded an assembly in which the school was awarded with a Woodland Trust Green Tree Award in acknowledgement of its environmental undertakings.

Loud and proud in the show

ABBOTSWELD: Pupils got to showcase their skills and show off their singing when they took part in their very own X Factor show.

The cream of the crop in Abbotsweld's Got Talent performed a variety of well-known pop and rock songs, with the aptly named group Loud Girls winning best overall act for their version of the Girls Aloud song The Promise.

POP PRINCESSES: The winning Loud Girls featuring Georgina Monaf, Caitlyn Bridges, Georgia Goldhawk, Elisha Hepworth and Olivia Morrison (photo: WTR4FGBJ/02)

Friends of Abbotsweld treasurer Sandra Odell said: "It went really well. The kids absolutely loved it they were all very excited by it."

Gymnasts with high ambitions

CHURCHGATE STREET PRIMARY:

Pupils will be showing off their best moves as they aim to bring a gymnastics championship to the town.

The Harlow school's squad of just five gymnasts has battled its way through to the Essex Schools Championship Finals, which will be held in Chelmsford on Saturday.

The girls have been putting in extra hours after school with their trainer, teaching assistant and former gymnast Tracey Evans. Should they impress the judges, they will be representing Essex at the national championships.

Sizing up for a perfect fit

THE latest technology is being used in the UK to ensure clothing manufacturers are kept up-to-date with children's changing body sizes.

At the moment most shops use children's measurements taken back in 1990 to help them make their clothes the right size, but retailers have realised that many garments for young people no longer fit properly.

So now a futuristic 3D scanner is being used to measure thousands of children across the country in an effort to find out their average size.

Around 250 children have already been scanned and organisers are planning to measure as many as 6,000.

The children being scanned stand in a special booth while the machine uses 16 sensors and 32 cameras to take pictures. These are then pieced together to create a virtual 3D image of the child's body, which is saved on a computer.

Eventually computer whizzes will be able to use the information from all the scans to produce a new set of average measurements, making it much easier for manufacturers to make clothes to fit children properly.

A survey of adult sizes carried out by the same company in 2001 found that people were, on average, much bigger than clothing manufacturers had thought.

Help us find Harlow's Mum in a Million

IS your mum always there for you? Is she the best cook in the world? Does she have boundless energy? Is she strong, caring, considerate and kind? If so, we want to hear from you.

Being a mum in today's world is not an easy task. When she's not at work she's probably flying down the aisles of the supermarket, in the kitchen rustling up a healthy meal for the family, in the car working as the family taxi or maybe she's out walking the dog while acting as the on-call nurse at the same time.

A week on Sunday it's Mother's Day when, for one day, we treat our mums like royalty. And one lucky mum is in for a special treat thanks to the Harvey Centre and the Star, who have teamed up to find Harlow's 'Mum in a Million'.

There are some great prizes for the winner: a £250 gift card to spend anywhere in the Harvey Centre, a £50 voucher from Primark, a beautiful mother of pearl photo frame from Eversden Jewellers, some stunning scents from The Perfume Shop, a gorgeous box of chocolates from Thorntons, a beautiful bunch of blooms from Marks & Spencer and a wonderful set of crystal gifts from Bhs. The Manor of Groves has also joined us to pamper our winning mum with a relaxing massage and manicure.

"It is obvious that there are hundreds of mothers from Harlow who are truly wonderful, but we would like to find that one lady who particularly deserves recognition and spoiling," said Harvey centre manager Bryan Young.

If you think your mother deserves to win these superb prizes, all you have to do is tell us why you think she is our 'Mum in a Million'.

To take part, follow the instructions in the How To Enter panel on the right.

For more information, visit www.harveycentre.com.

HOW TO ENTER

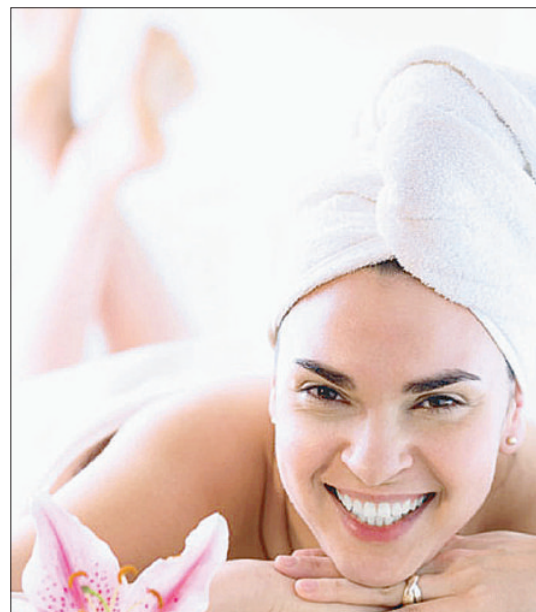

All you have to do to take part in this great Harvey Centre/Star competition is tell us, IN NO MORE THAN 100 WORDS, why you think your mother is Harlow's 'Mum in a Million'.

You can email your entry to timeformum@harveycentre.com making sure you include your name, age, address and daytime telephone number. Alternatively, you can send it by post to Bryan Young, Management Office, Unit 62, Harvey Centre, Harlow, Essex CM20 1XR.

The closing date for entries is Thursday, March 19.

Terms and conditions apply. The judges decision is final. Normal Herts & Essex Newspapers competition rules apply.

First Step

Your guide to buying your first home.

Take the pressure off moving home!

Fresh hope for first timers

THERE is no doubt that the housing market is going through a turbulent time, but one trend that may have been eclipsed by news of house price falls is the re-emergence of first time buyers.

Previously priced out at the height of the market, this buying sector is showing signs of activity thanks to the increasing availability of funding schemes from housebuilders and government initiatives.

According to recent research by Abbey Mortgages, house price falls have made it cheaper for first-time buyers with big deposits to buy a home than rent one in the majority of places across the UK.

At the same time, the Bank of England Base rate has dropped to a record low, making mortgage rates for people with large deposits increasingly affordable.

Nici Audhlm-Gardiner, director of Abbey Mortgages, said: "The tide is turning in favour of first-time buyers. With property prices falling and competitive mortgage offerings now available, those who have built a significant deposit will be able to reap the benefits across most of the country with lower monthly outgoings."

Several new incentives are giving homebuyers in Hertfordshire and Essex the opportunity to get onto the property ladder with some developers offering substantial price reductions.

There is also the opportunity to opt for schemes such as Buy Back, where the company offers a ten year guarantee to buy the property back for the original purchase price including stamp duty and legal costs incurred.

Bryant Homes is boosting sales at its White Street development in Dunmow, Essex, by doubling their deposit of up to 10 per cent.

Emily Gilchrist, regional sales manager, said: "As many mortgage lenders now require higher deposits than they have in previous years, we are giving our customers the opportunity to make a larger initial investment in their new home now, so that they don't have to save up for months, or even years."

"If they – or their parents – can put down a deposit of up to 10 per cent of the purchase price of their new home at White Street, we'll match that to help them save thousands of pounds now and over the lifetime of their mortgage."

A choice of two-bedroom apartments is currently available at White Street, priced from £139,995, along with 12 three-bedroom houses starting at £194,000.

Across the county border in Hertfordshire, Barratt North London, the developer behind 32 one and two-bedroom apartments, priced from £140,000, at Riverside Quarter on the banks of the Stort, has joined forces with the Government to offer a 30 per cent equity loan.

As part of the HomeBuy Direct scheme, launched a month ago, the buyer finances the remaining 70 per cent of the purchase price through a mortgage, deposit or combination of the two.

Christine Scarborough, sales director at Barratt North London, said: "The 30 per cent equity loan from ourselves and the Government means that in many cases they don't even need to have a deposit." She added: "The scheme is open to first time buyers, key workers and others who are currently renting. People who have previously owned properties, but are now unable to do so – perhaps because they have been in relationships which came to an end – can also apply."

Meanwhile, Weston Homes is offering a 25 per cent reduction in the price of apartments at its Bishop's Stortford development Archers Place, where one-bedroom apartments now start from £142,500 and the two bedrooms at £169,950, and has recently introduced a Buy Back scheme.

Gareth Jacob, Sales and Marketing Director said: "We want to make 2009 the time to purchase property by making it a worry-free experience for our customers."

Managing to cope

THERE can be little doubt that, in the economic downturn, landlords need to be in close contact with their tenants, some of whom are inevitably struggling to meet contractual commitments.

Rent collection is, however, just one of the issues as commercial landlords have been faced with increasing legislation and best practice guidance.

In common with the commercial environment generally, a lot of the legislation is driven by Health & Safety concerns and landlords need to be particularly alert to their responsibilities in respect of common parts within buildings they let, such as estate roads, entrance lobbies, etc.

Tenants are also entitled to more transparent service charge accounts and so care needs to be taken, particularly when incurring significant capital expenditure.

During the last 12 months, Derrick Wade Waters, with offices at Harlow and Tottenham Hale, has secured a number of new management instructions direct from landlords who have decided that the risks associated with the management function are too great, or wish to concentrate on more profitable areas of their business.

Other instructions have come from clients seeking a change of managing agent to a company that is perhaps more locally based, or can offer a wider range of services.

Derrick Wade Waters and DWW Design are able to undertake a wide range of disciplines in-house relevant to their management clients, including re-letting any space that becomes vacant, undertaking rent review or lease renewal negotiations, or dealing with dilapidations or repairs to buildings through to comprehensive refurbishment.

Andy Morland within the management team said: "With pressure in the economy and an increasing demand on landlords through new legislation, landlords are faced with something of a 'double whammy'.

"With comprehensive systems in place, together with dedicated surveyors and credit control staff, we are able to take away the headache of day-to-day management and ensure that landlords are compliant with their obligations, leaving them to deal with more strategic matters regarding their property portfolio or simply enjoy more free time".

To discuss any property matters, please contact Andy Morland (akm@dww.co.uk) or Simon Beeton (scb@dww.co.uk).

Listen carefully, we will play zis only once

AN amateur dramatics society will be greeting their audiences with a "good moaning" when they revisit the TV sitcom 'Allo 'Allo at Old Harlow's Victoria Hall Theatre. Closely based on the format of the much-loved BBC comedy, East Herts Operatic Society's acclaimed show follows the hilarious exploits of randy French café owner René Artois in his quest to hide a painting of "ze fallen Madonna wiv ze big boobies" from corrupt German and Italian officers during the Second World War. Featuring all of the main characters from the original show, including undercover policeman Crabtree, resistance operative Michelle and raunchy barmaid Yvette, the play promises to remain faithful to its inspiration.

EHOS chairman Daniel Goode said: "This is a quintessential English favourite. The cast are having so much fun recreating the classic characters, rehearsals often descend into fits of giggles.

"We hope that our audiences will have as much fun watching as we had in putting it together!"

'Allo 'Allo will run from Thursday until Sunday, March 21 at The Victoria Hall Theatre, in Bury Road, Old Harlow. Tickets are £8.25 (£6.75 concs) from www.ehos.co.uk or the box office on (01992) 479188.

Troupe tackles top Broadway musical

By CHRIS MOSS

WHO needs an expensive jaunt to the West End or a bank-busting trip to Broadway when you can catch a home-grown adaptation of one of the most popular musicals of modern times at Harlow's Playhouse?

The remarkably talented local dance troupe Hip Hop Pop is taking time out from busting its trademark body-popping moves to produce a thoughtful, entertaining and heart-breaking production of Rent – The Musical. Loosely based on Giacomo Puccini's renowned opera La Bohème, the show tells the bittersweet story of a group of impoverished young artists struggling to survive and create in New York City's overpopulated Lower East Side under the shadow of the mounting AIDS crisis.

Taking an uncompromisingly frank look at life, death and sexuality, the taboo-busting Broadway hit is among the most popular and well-respected musicals of the last 25 years, and first-time Hip Hop Pop director Susie Corcoran welcomed the challenge of adapting it for a local audience.

"I'm very excited about this show – it's Hip Hop Pop's first musical and my first crack at directing," she said.

"We have an amazing team around us who have all worked hard, including Jason Thorpe, who featured in Channel 4's Musicality and has been performing at The Playhouse for many years."

Aside from Thorpe, who plays gay philosopher and anarchist Tom Collins, another Playhouse favourite, actress Joanne Goddard, takes the pivotal role of HIV-positive exotic dancer Mimi Marquez – a far cry from her previous appearance at the theatre as Dorothy in The Wizard of Oz!

The director added: "We also have many new faces who have put in stunning performances during rehearsals, some from Harlow and others who live outside the town.

"The show has the most beautiful songs, storylines and characters which will have you laughing, dancing, singing and crying by the end."

Rent – The Musical opens at The Playhouse tonight (Thursday) at 7.45pm until Saturday. Tickets are £10-12 from (01279) 431945.

COMEDY Innovative new comedy show Totally Looped makes its Playhouse debut on Sunday at 7.30pm with some of the UK's top comics. Join Phill Jupitus, Hattie Hayridge, Pippa Evans and others as they dub new dialogue over old film footage. Tickets are £16.50 from (01279) 431945.

DRAMA Shakespeare 4 Kidz serves up two more entertaining musical reinterpretations of the Bard's work perfect for those studying it at Key Stages 2 and 3. Beginning on Tuesday at 1.30pm and 7.30pm with a rock 'n' roll remake of Romeo and Juliet, S4K will then offer a magical and hilarious re-imagining of The Tempest on Wednesday at 10am and 1.30pm. Tickets for both shows are £14 (£9 children) from (01279) 431945.

DRAMA Phoenix Theatre School students take time out from their busy schedule of lessons to showcase the wide range of skills and techniques they have been learning under the guidance of former Playhouse boss Phil Dale. Whether it's the younger members of the Primary Performance Skills classes or the older students of senior classes and musical theatre, this promises to be a thrilling variety show by some of Harlow's top theatrical talent. It will run between Tuesday and next Saturday in The Playhouse Studio. For details, visit www.phoenixtheatreschool.co.uk.

Journalist finds lots of material in a dog's life

MARLEY & ME

certificate PG, running time 1h55m

ANIMAL lovers will likely go barking mad for David Frankel's comedy-drama about one man's journey of self-discovery with a mischievous Labrador, based on the memoir by John Grogan.

Marley & Me collars decent laughs with uproarious interludes as the four-legged central character runs amok in Florida.

However, the script plumbs surprising emotional depths too, eliciting strong performances from leads Owen Wilson and Jennifer Aniston as a young couple struggling to juggle professional and parental responsibilities.

Audiences should cram every available pocket with handkerchiefs because Frankel's film is a modern day Old Yeller, following the relationship between man and his best friend to its natural conclusion.

Forget a polite, covert dab to the eyes. Grown men will be reduced to sobbing and snivelling wrecks by the picture's final frames, which remain the right side of cloying.

Newly weds John and Jenny Grogan (Wilson, Aniston) move from Michigan to the subtropical climate of West Palm Beach to pursue parallel careers as journalists and settle down.

When fellow reporter Sebastian (Eric Dane) plants a seed of worry in John's mind about his wife wanting a baby, the husband decides to dodge the bullet by buying Jenny a child substitute in the form of golden Labrador pup Marley.

The tiny, adorable bundle of fun soon grows into 100 pounds of uncontrollable energy, chewing up anything and everything in their home, from clothes to furniture; even an expensive necklace has to work its way through the dog's digestive tract before Jenny can wear it around her neck.

The couple labels the pet 'the world's worst dog' and hope an obedience trainer might be able to instil some discipline.

Inevitably, Marley wreaks havoc and the experiences compel John to put pen to paper and write a popular column in the local newspaper, to the delight of his cranky editor (Alan Arkin).

Crystal Lake's open again to make a killing

FRIDAY THE 13TH

certificate 18, running time 1h37m

MARCUS Nispel, who directed the 2003 remake of The Texas Chainsaw Massacre, helms this revamp of the seminal 1980 chiller about a masked psychopath running amok at Camp Crystal Lake.

In this new incarnation, Clay Miller (Jared Padalecki) is searching for his missing sister Whitney (Amanda Righetti) and pursues the few leads to Crystal Lake, where locals and the police warn him to stay away from the infamous beauty spot. Ignoring these sage words, Clay heads for the site of Jason Voorhees' bloodthirsty rampage, accompanied by local lovely, Jenna (Danielle Panabaker).

They discover rotting old cabins covered with moss and an eerie quiet.

But the air is soon filled with the screams of eviscerated, fun-seeking college students as Jason (Derek Mears) rises from the grave to slay again ... and again ... and again.

Unlike a lot of strictly-for-the-greenbacks remakes, Friday The 13th is a prime candidate for the treatment, considering that after the first movie the quality of the series tails off very sharply into grim self-parody and tired retreading of the same material.

Here, Nispel gets to reboot the mythology from scratch, pretty much hammering through ideas from the first three films as Jason goes from a drowned deformed child to an iconic hockey mask-wearing supernatural killer.

WATCHMEN Relations between America and the Soviet Union are strained and there is a clear and present danger of nuclear attack. In this politically charged climate, a deadly conspiracy involving masked crime-fighters unfolds, which could have far-reaching implications for the future of mankind. Zack Snyder's adaptation of Alan Moore's dense, iconic comic is little short of a masterpiece, capturing the tone and essence of the original in a dark, bloody tale of vigilantes in an alternative 1980s America.

THE YOUNG VICTORIA The early, somewhat fictionalised years of the long-reigning monarch and her great love for Albert.

GRAN TORINO Clint Eastwood's tour-de-force performance as xenophobic war veteran who takes a young Asian boy under his wing but finds himself in a world riven by gang violence and peer pressure.

Into the belly of the beast in LA

L.A. CONFIDENTIAL (TWO-DISC SPECIAL EDITION)

(Warner Home Video, 18, retail)

Faithfully condensing the labyrinthine, brutal, beautiful, vulgar prose of powerhouse crime writer James Ellroy for the screen is an impossible task – failures large and small include Brian De Palma's dreadful The Black Dahlia, 1988's Cop and '98's Brown's Requiem – but director Curtis Hanson comes astonishingly close by nailing the spirit, if not the letter, of his work.

He and co-writer Brian Helgeland strip away subplots, shift events and change narrative details, but emerge with a gorgeous hymn to the golden era of crime noirs while remaining steeped in the book's dense, idiosyncratic vibe.

It's Los Angeles in the early 1950s and the sunny Hollywood glamour is slowly peeling away in the year-round sun to reveal the tawdry, rotten underbelly which is the hunting ground of tabloid hack and salacious smut peddler Sid Huggins (Danny DeVito), the film's expositional tour guide.

An horrific multiple murder at the Nite Owl diner occurs against the broader backdrop of underworld struggles to fill the power vacuum left by the jailing of real-life mob boss Mickey Cohen, but the truth behind the crimes is altogether darker and draws in three very different lawmen – old school hardcase Bud White (Russell Crowe), straight-arrow careerist Ed Exley (Guy Pearce) and showboating celebrity cop Jack Vincennes (Kevin Spacey).

Together, their investigations expose a deadly conspiracy of corruption, murder, betrayal with implications for the whole city.

L.A. Confidential is about as flawless as they come, with stellar performances across the board, breathtaking design, scripting sharp enough to cut your wrists on and a beautiful Jerry Goldsmith soundtrack.

Extras in this special edition include a sprawling commentary with everyone from Ellroy to the talent behind and before the cameras, a music-only track, several absorbing documentaries on the making of, cast and crew interviews, a fascinating recreation of Hanson's original photo-based pitch to get his film made, a behind-the-scenes visit to key sets and the curious pilot for the abortive 1999 L.A. Confidential TV series starring Kiefer Sutherland.

100 FEET

(DNC, 15, retail)

Eric Red, writer of cults hits Near Dark and The Hitcher, scripts and shoots this superior supernatural drama that succeeds in being about far more than mere spectral presences and things going bump from beyond.

Marnie (Famke Jansen) is released on parole from prison, where she's been serving time for killing her abusive cop husband Mike (Michael Paré) in self-defence.

An electronic tag with a 100ft radius effectively puts her under house arrest unless she wants to automatically return to jail – but unfortunately, she's not alone and the vengeful spirit of her dead spouse subjects her to a series of savage attacks.

Haunted and hunted in her own home, she finds no help from her husband's former partner Shanks (Bobby Cannavale), who believes her guilty of the deliberate murder of his friend and stakes out her apartment in the hope of catching her breaching tagging restrictions.

But even he has to reconsider when Mike (created in a variety of chilling and viscerally physical guises) extends his rage to anybody else coming into Marnie's life.

By shooting in a very limited environment and keeping the camera's gaze fixed almost permanently on its lead, the film expects a great deal from Jansen in terms of maintaining the interest and energy, and it's to her credit that she does so in spades with a thoroughly committed and plausible performance speaking more to the torments of an abused wife than the usual girl-in-danger-from-ghosts histrionics you might expect.

BAD BIOLOGY

(Revolver Entertainment, 18, retail)

A lot of movies try to draw in viewers via the reverse psychology of warning them off because of the allegedly extreme content, virtually daring people to expose themselves to material apparently so appalling it might induce nausea, coronaries or mental collapse.

Of course, they usually turn out to be so tame you could take your grandmother to see them, but Frank Henenlotter's Bad Biology is one of the few that would merit such hyperbole. In 6ft tall letters. Underscored with lurid neon.

When he's not rescuing vintage exploitation flicks through his Something Weird label, he's been busy making his own films largely obsessed with bodily mutation and characterised by their cheerfully sleazy tones, copious gore, jet black humour and raunchy, unblinking view of sex.

Starting out with midnight movie favourite Basket Case in 1982, the touching fable of misfit Duane and his deformed Siamese twin Belial taking revenge on the doctors who separated them (which spawned two sequels), he progressed to a delirious cautionary tale of substance abuse in Brain Damage and a preposterous romance of a boy and his dream girl in Frankenhooker.

Bad Biology is his first feature in 16 years and from the word go he's off at Warped Factor 10 beyond the outer reaches of outrageous.

Photographer Jennifer (Charlee Danielson) is a young woman born with an over-endowment of a particular sensory organ, leaving her with frenzied appetites which usually prove fatal for her unwitting partners – not to mention the inconvenience of mutant offspring with a two-hour gestation period.

True romance isn't on the cards, but on the other side of town is Batz (Anthony Sneed), a young man with a frankly indescribable problem due to a childhood accident leaving a part of him with a mind of its own and a serious drug habit.

They were made for each other, but their inevitable meeting certainly doesn't go as planned ...

The two young leads give remarkably committed (and admirably straight-faced) performances, and the whole thing is so ridiculously incorrect that it scorches right past offensive into disbelief and mild hysteria.

Henenlotter might be saying something about contemporary sexual mores and the porning-down of the internet – but then again, he might just be one very twisted individual with a weird sense of humour.

SATURDAY

The name Roddy Byers, pictured left, may not immediately ring any bells, but his songs Concrete Jungle, Rat Race and Hey Little Rich Girl are as instantly recognisable as the black and white checker board associated with the 2-tone movement in the late 1970s. As Roddy Radiation, he stood alongside Terry Hall, Jerry Dammers, Neville Staples, Horace Painter, Lynval Golding and John Bradbury in The Specials, one of the most important British bands of the time. The Specials burst onto the UK music scene in 1979 with their top 10 hit Gangsters, released on their own 2-Tone label. Recently announcing a 30th anniversary tour which sold out within hours of the tickets going on sale, The Specials initially called it a day in 1981 following the release of their biggest hit, Ghost Town. Hall, Golding and Staple left to form the Fun Boy Three and since then Roddy Radiation has been a constant popular performer with his bands The Tearjerkers and The Bonediggers. His latest band, The Skabillies Rebels, have proved a success with their mix of Roddy's two favourite styles – ska and rockabilly. At the end of last year The Skabillies Rebels announced a new bass player, former Harlow resident Mac, known for his stints in The Newtown Neurotics and Psychobilly clan The Pharaohs, and more recently his own band Travis Cut. This is one of the last shows the Skabillies Rebels will be doing for a while as Roddy is off around the country with his old mates, including sets at Oxygen, the V Festival and T in The Park. Playing a selection of new material alongside Specials classics, the Skabillies Rebels are not to be missed. Support comes from Hertfordshire bands The Summons, and punk upstarts the Debt Collectors. Tickets for the show are £7 in advance and doors open at 8pm.

SUNDAY

It's the return of the always popular Tones Music Store 'mostly' blues jam. It's a chance for you to join The Square's house band on stage and show what you've got. For beginners looking for experience to seasoned pros looking to show off. Doors open at 8pm and entrance is £3.

to guide you through the week ahead

Aries Mar 21-Apr 20
An issue you may prefer to keep hidden may burst into the open. Or it could be you who is driven to winkle the truth out. If you feel isolated in any way, this moving, this would be an opportunity time to take a look at your overall health regime, not for your forces, but if you're worried about keeping up preferences in order to keep yours intact, get fitter – if you're self-someone from tuning into you. Call me now for more news and advice...

The Full Moon is still much in force as this week kicks-off and open. Uranus. With Mars also isolated in any way, this moving, this would be an opportunity time to take a look at your overall health regime, not for your forces, but if you're worried about keeping up preferences in order to keep yours intact, get fitter – if you're self-someone from tuning into you. Taurus Apr 21-May 21
This can be an exciting time with lots of possibilities for dramatic new threads to develop, but whether you will view it this way or not, may depend on if you are "in the space" to welcome these into your life. Yet if you are, it can be quirky or rather edgy types who seem to attract you. You can find their daring ways a pleasant contrast to your liking for routine. Call for your in-depth forecast...

Scorpio Oct 24-Nov 22
If you've found yourself clinging to a situation, perhaps because it's what you have known for some time, a big change is possible. However tough it is to go through with this, you may decide that the only thing worth protecting is your integrity and you can do this by embracing your freedom. Don't expect an uneventful passage. This may prove bumpy. Call your special prediction line for more...

Gemini May 22-Jun 21
You can either find yourself playing the role of the rebel or needing to deal with someone who sees you as the "out of touch" authority figure. Or else fast-moving events in the professional sphere can put a spoke in the wheel of the theory of chaos. Think deeply about the cause of family or social downtime. Your frustration. However, Yet you can show a lot more drive and confidence from here on Gemini. Call your special prediction line for more...

Sagittarius Nov 23-Dec 21
If there was a magic cure for restlessness, you'd surely use it now. But if something is in a state of flux, eventually calm will emerge from all this, even if it is simply a clearer understanding of the theory of chaos. Think deeply about the cause of family or social downtime. Your frustration. However, Yet you can show a lot more drive and confidence from here on Gemini. Call your special prediction line for more...

Cancer Jun 22-Jul 23
It may be time to throw the dice of life, however if you're naturally disinclined towards taking risks, this may go against the grain. But whether you see as a desire to avoid yourself as a go-getting Crab or someone who prefers being with close family and friends, some part of your life can benefit from a form of breakout. Everyone is different, so just which is down to you. Call now for more astral advice...

Leo Jul 24-Aug 23
Being the most regal member of the zodiac you're used to a certain standard of living and compromising on this can be hard, especially if the affects of any limitations can be seen by those around you. It's not that you are a snob, simply that your pride is important to your self-image. Yet if you delay any cost cutting, events may move beyond your control. Call for your financial forecast...

Aquarius Jan 21-Feb 19
This week can ebb and flow – especially as far as finances are concerned. If you've been applying to yourself feverishly for some time fortune could any limitations can be seen by those around you. It's not that you are a snob, simply that your pride is important to your self-image. Yet if you delay any cost cutting, events may move beyond your control. Call for your financial forecast...

Virgo Aug 24-Sept 23
Make or break? It's an oft used expression but it may be entirely apt as to how things stand around you close tie. If you think you're doing and have done everything, to make this work better, and your partner seems immune to all this, a sudden parting is possible, but then a feisty quarrel could bring a lot of issues out into the open, which may need airing. Call me now for your love scope in full...

Pisces Feb 20-Mar 20
Whether it's a physical or psychological indisposition you're labouring under, you can find yourself craving to escape it. But with freedom comes responsibility and others may perceive any rash moves as selfishness. On the other hand, you may feel neither and simply be in the mood for excitement, to kick up your heels and be tad crazy. Call your special prediction line for more...

Get your brand closer to people's lives

No other medium is as close to people's hearts as Regional Press. Consumers consider it an integral part of their community. The effectiveness of regional press advertising in driving sales comes down to the simple fact that people prefer to do most of their spending close to where they live. Consumers' Choice V, a national consumer survey by TNS Media, found that regional press advertising is the most frequently acted upon, with 61% of people responding to it.¹ No wonder brands enjoy a closer relationship with consumers when advertised in this, the most trusted and effective medium of all.

Dagenham Motors are MASSIVELY overstocked. As a result, the managers have reduced the price of all their cars in stock.

Normally these cars would go to auction where other small car dealers would pick these cars up then sell them on to you with a large mark-up.

Scrap

End of the road for your vehicle?

Responsible drivers scrap their vehicles at an Authorised Treatment Facility (ATF).

Because only an ATF can legally scrap a vehicle. That means any pollutants will be made safe before it's recycled in an environmentally friendly way.

What's more, for certain types of vehicle you'll get a DVLA approved Certificate of Destruction (CoD). A CoD proves that the ATF has told DVLA your vehicle has been scrapped and so is no longer your responsibility. www.direct.gov.uk/motoring

EXECUTIVE ASSISTANT TO THE CHAIRMAN

EXCITING LOCAL OPPORTUNITY PACKAGE £30 - £45K

Data Connection is one of the world's leading communications technology companies. We employ over 450 people, with our Head Office located opposite Gentleman's Row in Enfield Town. We have consistently been in the top 10 of the "Sunday Times 100 Best Companies To Work For" for the past six years.

Our Chairman, Ian Ferguson, has a demanding hands-on role in the company and is also actively involved on the Boards of government agencies, working to improve the effectiveness and relevance of the national education and training system.

Ian has two Executive Assistants supporting his very busy workload. Gill works part time, until 3.15pm each day, and looks after Ian's personal affairs. We now need a highly organised and confident Executive Assistant to provide full secretarial support for his Data Connection and education work.

This is an ideal opportunity for someone who

- is probably degree educated, with good A-levels
- has first class secretarial skills (ideally with shorthand)
- is a proficient user of Microsoft Office
- is able to take a brief and follow an agreed process
- is able to use their own initiative and has plenty of common sense
- is articulate and able to communicate effectively at all levels.

Our competitive remuneration package includes all the benefits you would expect from a modern, well-managed organisation; salary, profit share, share plan, pension and private medical insurance. We also have a few specials of our own - like company outings abroad!

Get your brand closer to people's lives

No other medium is as close to people's hearts as Regional Press. Consumers consider it an integral part of their community.

The effectiveness of regional press advertising in driving sales comes down to the simple fact that people prefer to do most of their spending close to where they live.

Consumers' Choice V, a national consumer survey by TNS Media, found that regional press advertising is the most frequently acted upon, with 61% of people responding to it.

No wonder brands enjoy a closer relationship with consumers when advertised in this, the most trusted and effective medium of all.

Get your brand closer to people's lives

No other medium is as close to people's hearts as Regional Press. Consumers consider it an integral part of their community.

The effectiveness of regional press advertising in driving sales comes down to the simple fact that people prefer to do most of their spending close to where they live.

Consumers' Choice V, a national consumer survey by TNS Media, found that regional press advertising is the most frequently acted upon, with 61% of people responding to it†.

No wonder brands enjoy a closer relationship with consumers when advertised in this, the most trusted and effective medium of all.

Best Mover placed well for advantage

WELCOME to Inside Track, the column that gives you an insight into Harlow Greyhound Stadium as our top tipster reveals his favourites for tomorrow (Friday).

POPULAR veteran BEST MOVER has been given a welcome drop in grade by the racing manager this Friday (9pm) and she retains enough ability to be able to take advantage. She has been a model of consistency throughout her career and that was rewarded with the 'Bitch of the Year' title in 2007.

One can expect her to track the likely pace-maker LISLEVANE MODEL before taking up the running turning for home. Rapidly improving youngster BUGLYS MALONE has been a revelation in recent weeks, landing two wins over the standard distance by wide margins.

He now takes his chance over the stayers distance, where he may look a doubtful stayer. However, given his style of running he could poach a big enough lead to be able to hang on.

Lee's airport dash is sadly for nothing

LEE Stevenson's frantic rush from Stansted Airport after coming back from Hamburg proved to be in vain as his team FC Clark Reserves lost to league leaders Brookside Athletic 3-0 in the Harlow and District League division five cup final.

FC Clark's ace striker could only play in the second half after dashing from the airport in his kit for Sunday's final at Barrows Farm! Brookside went ahead after 27 minutes when Gary Owen chipped the Clark keeper Simon Bolt and the lead was doubled on 65 minutes. An Owen cross was deflected off Clark's Paul Raythorne and into the net and shortly after, James Marrington set up Ricky Saye to fire home.

Brookside coach Kevin Payne said: "It was a great result and hopefully we can go on to win the league."

Proud medal haul in championships

JUDO

SEVEN medals, including two golds, were gained by Harlow Judo club youngsters at the Littleport U10/U12 Invitation Championships in Cambridgeshire.

Nine-year-old Chloe Nunn won the gold in the girls U-32kg class, while 10-year-old Joseph Arnold returned to form to win the boys U-57kg class and, in doing so, performed the throw of the tournament.

Silvers were claimed by nine-year-olds Jessica Brown (girls U-50kg), Thomas Rees (boys U-30kg) and Louis Preater (boys U-34kg).

Ten-year-olds Chloe Freeman (girls U-34kg) and Jack Clark (boys U-34kg) claimed bronzes.

Hawks have a day to forget

Harlow Town 0, Staines Town 2

(Ryman League, premier div)

IT was a day to forget for the Hawks as they slipped to a home defeat at the hands of a physical Staines Town side.

The Middlesex side are second in the table and were stronger on the ball than Harlow, who suffered five bookings.

Substitute Jamie Richards was fortunate to escape with a booking for a two-footed challenge on Gareth Risbridger after 80 minutes.

This came shortly after Mark Taylor was unlucky booked for simulation when Risbridger fouled him in the visitors' box.

Defender Jon Stevenson, signed from Hitchin Town, had a solid debut for Harlow but was booked for a foul, as were Michael Bardle and keeper James Hasell.

Harlow had a let-off on six minutes when a corner fell loose for Risbridger, who fired over wastefully from six yards.

At the other end, Dee Okojie forced visitors' keeper Louis Wells to tip around a shot on 29 minutes.

Marién Ifura was one of two Staines players to be booked but he atoned just before the break. A trademark long throw from Jon McDonald was headed home powerfully by Ifura into the far corner.

Early second half action saw Ricci Grace head wide when he should have scored for Harlow.

The Hawks pressed but were caught napping on 70 minutes when a neat attack ended with Richard Butler's slide-rule finish giving Hasell no chance.

Harlow conceded a penalty on 87 minutes.

Hasell fouled substitute Lewis Cook near the by-line inside the home box and was booked.

However, Hasell blocked Leroy Griffiths' spot kick with his body before brilliantly turning away a rebound shot from Scott Taylor.

HARLOW TOWN: Hasell 6, Taylor 5, Bardle 6, Wolf 5, Stewart 6, Dauti 4 (Berry 45), Hall 5 (Gliddon 67), Okojie 6, Crace 5, Frendo 4 (Ellerbeck 62), Stevenson 7. Subs not used: Webster, Stone.

quarter and the visitors only trailed 33-31 at the halfway stage.

The third quarter saw Harlow dominate and take an eight-point lead before Jokers recovered to lead 50-49 going into the final quarter.

Hawks were trailing by six points towards the end but three-pointers from Paul Jessup and Niaz made it 60-60 and sent the game into overtime.

Both sides then scored seven points apiece before another five minute overtime period ended with Niaz converting two of three free throws to put Hawks ahead and they won by one point.

The victory followed a 70-60 away triumph for Harlow Hawks at Enfield Merics on Friday.

Hawks were not at their best in the first quarter but stayed in touch and trailed 14-10 at the end of the first quarter.

The second quarter saw Merics enjoy a 13-2 run before two scores from Mike Freeman and a Niaz score ensured that Hawks stayed in touch, trailing 39-27 at the halfway point.

Hawks stepped up their defence in the third quarter but they failed to convert their shots and Merics extended their lead to 54-38 at the final break.

The Hawks then reduced the Merics lead to three points and although Merics scored again, the Hawks dominated to win by 10 points.

Jessop (22) and Haddow (20) were, respectively, the highest scorers against Ware Jokers and Enfield Merics.

Hat-trick helps secure a home draw for team

HOCKEY

Harlow 3, Brentwood 3

(Essex Women's Hockey league, prem div)

EMMA Tweddle scored a hat-trick as Harlow twice came from behind to earn a hard-earned home draw against Brentwood.

The hosts were sluggish at the start on Saturday and Brentwood exploited this to take the lead.

However, Harlow fought back and equalised when a quickly taken free hit by Sue Douglas found Tweddle in space at the top of the D and the latter fired home.

But Brentwood regained the lead when their right wing's scuffed shot beat home keeper Nicky Newland Newland at the near post. Encouraged, Brentwood pushed forward.

A good save from Newland and subsequent clearance from Shearman unluckily landed at the feet of a Brentwood player, who fired home to give the visitors a 3-1 half-time lead. Harlow had two unsuccessful short corner routines and it was third time lucky when a Tweddle strike beat the Brentwood keeper to her left.

Only 10 minutes were left when Tweddle broke through the final line of the defence to put a shot through the keeper's legs and complete her hat-trick.

HARLOW: Newland, Green, Shearman, Douglas, Figg, Reilly, Amos, Tweddle (c), Byers, Ferdinando, Trimble.

Other result: East Men's Hockey League div three SE - Chelmsford III 6, Harlow 2.

Servo Hawks 22 points from top

DARTS

SERVO Hawks whitewashed Young Pretenders 9-0 to consolidate second place in the Harlow and District Premier Darts League table but are a huge 22 points behind runaway leaders White Admiral.

Hawks win included 180 and a 114 outshot from Billy Nelmess.

Outshot of the week was 148 from Mick Rout (TG Whites) in their 6-3 win against Moot House Arrows, whose Damian Green notched his seventh 180 of the season.

Dave Galloway shot out on 100 with Billy Woods (Swift) notching his second 180 of the season. FC Wonders lost 2-7 at home to CC Colts with Richie Barnard notching his third 180 of the season. CC Foxes continue their resurgence beating UG Social 6-3.

Justin excellent in 20-mile race

JUSTIN Revell ran a magnificent first 20-mile race in the Essex 20-mile championships at Great Bromley in preparation for running the London Marathon, clocked a superb time of 2h 6m 42s and coming 16th.

Two personal bests were recorded by Alan Wise (2:16) and Steve Ambrose (2:38.59).

Other Harlow RC results: Colin Moody 2:17.05, Steve McKenzie 2:20.06, Ron Newton 3:02.14.

Fresh blood for Hawks?

GOAL!! Harlow's Michael Bardle turns to celebrate his first goal for Harlow (photo: QCKMNK4R/01)

GLEN Alzapiedi is looking to bolster the Hawks' defence with new blood before their home game against Billericay Town at home this Saturday.

The central defender, whose identity has not been disclosed, has played at Step three and Step four in non-league football this season; Harlow Town play at Step three.

"If I can get this player he will give us a physical presence. He is also competitive," said Hawks boss Alzapiedi.

Harlow Town are on the verge of the drop zone (18th) on goal difference ahead of Hastings United (18th) after surrendering a two-goal lead against Maidstone United at home on Tuesday.

The Kent side recovered to make it 2-2, before the winner came from an 88th minute Lloyd Blackman penalty. "I thought Maidstone were a better side than Staines [Harlow played them on Saturday] but we made them work," he said. "We have got a number of games coming up which are winnable but we have to work hard for 90 minutes, not for 70."

Alzapiedi will be hoping keeper James Hasell recovers for the

Harlow Tn 2, Maidstone 3

Billericay clash after the latter went off ill after 66 minutes of the Maidstone game. He was replaced by debutant Ben Stone.

Harlow went ahead on two minutes. Maidstone's Taylor Sinfield slipped and Michael Bardle pounced to fire home his first goal for Harlow.

Both sides had chances before Harlow doubled their advantage on 36 minutes.

A neat four-man move culminated in Dee Okojie setting up Ricci Crace to finish at the far post.

The visitors halved the deficit on 50 minutes when Jay Saunders headed home Elliot Bradbrook's corner.

The Stones equalised on 75 minutes. Stone raced off his line to try a clear a ball but James Pincock beat him to it and rounded him before firing home.

Alzapiedi added: "It was a big individual error [by the keeper]. It cost us."

Maidstone grabbed the late winner from Blackman after Laurie Stewart fouled Nathan Paul in the box.

HARLOW: Hasell (Stone 66), Taylor, Bardle, Wolf, Stewart, Dauti (S Gliddon, 33), Berry, Okojie, Crace, Ellerbeck (Frendo 82), Stevenson. Subs not used: Webster, Hall.

Rams slip to a heavy home defeat

THE Rams slipped to a heavy home defeat to 14-man Brentwood.

Saturday's game was already decided by the time visitors' centre Ben Abbott was sent off for on 75 minutes for his second yellow card offence, a foul on Harlow sub Rob Mackie.

Harlow were without skipper Paul Eynon due to a groin injury in training while winger Will Grimley was unavailable. They were also handicapped when influential flanker Wayne Morgan went off after 35 minutes with a badly cut lip.

The Rams fell behind after five minutes when slick handling set up Glenn Stannard to score a try converted by Stuart Green.

Brentwood extended the

Harlow 9, Brentwood 47
 (London and South East div 3) lead on 10 minutes through an Emile Solomons unconverted try.

James McFerran kicked two penalties before Mark Bowering was sin-binned on 20 minutes following repeated team ruck offences.

Ben Abbott kicked a drop goal and the game swung heavily away from Harlow in the second part of the first half. They conceded two more tries by Solomons and Tom King, both converted by Green, and a goal was also kicked.

Harlow's only score in that time was a McFerran penalty and they trailed 28-6 at the break.

The Rams were boosted slightly by a McFerran 44th minute penalty but were handicapped by the sin-binning of Gareth Powell (repeated team offending for offside) and James McFerran (late tackle) on 55 and 60 minutes.

This left them with 13 at one stage, although the visitors went down to 14 when Abbott picked up his first yellow card on 46 minutes.

Brentwood scored three more tries on 45, 55 and 70 minutes.

HARLOW: McFerran, Vanbeck (C), Bowering, Powell, Webb (Mackie 45), Harron, Woodington, Webb, Wilkins, Prindville (70), Bowering, Hawkins, Twiner, Roberts, Morgan (Palmer 35).
